

Subject Line: Professional development opportunity

Hi [insert name],

I just found out about a great opportunity for personal and professional development. I'd like to attend on behalf of [insert your organization's name] because I believe that what I learn will make me a more effective leader for our team.

Kristen Hadeed is offering a daylong virtual retreat designed to help leaders become more effective and impactful by learning how to manage their energy, build resilience, and create accountability around professional goals. It will also help participants gain new perspectives on what it means to become the best version of themselves as humans and leaders.

Attending this event would be an amazing opportunity for me not only to represent our organization but also to grow with like-minded leaders from different industries, backgrounds, and roles.

The ticket price is pay-what-you-can, and all proceeds go toward making the program accessible to those who cannot afford to pay. The suggested ticket price is $149. I would be happy to set up a meeting to further discuss my attendance.

Thank you for your consideration.

[Insert your name]

KRISTENHADEED.COM

